DAYTIME SOAP STAR GOES ONE-ON-ONE WITH FELLOW DETROIT RED WINGS FANS
All My Children's Thorsten Kaye Will Interact With Fans via Cisco's Interactive TelePresence Fan Zone Experience at Game 5 of the Detroit Red Wings Stanley Cup Playoffs

WHO: Actor and hockey fan, Thorsten Kaye, currently stars in the ABC daytime drama, All My Children. The two-time Daytime Emmy nominee is an avid Detroit Red Wings fan and is currently chronicling the Red Wings' quest for the Cup in his celebrity blog on NHL.com.

WHAT: Kaye will interact with Red Wings fans at Joe Louis Arena using Cisco TelePresence, a life size, immersive video technology. Game five of the Red Wings series will be the first hockey game ever where fans can experience the latest technological innovations first-hand.

WHERE: Joe Louis Arena - Detroit, Michigan
In Section 124 on the Concourse

Prior to the start of the game Cisco TelePresence will provide a virtual meeting environment where fans will interact real-time with Kaye, who will be located in another area of Joe Louis Arena. Using high-definition video and high-quality audio, fans and Kaye will look and sound as though they are in the same room – seated across a virtual table at the touch of a button.

WHEN: Thursday, May 8, 2008
Pre-game (6:30 – 7:15pm, ET)

WHY: Cisco is an official technology solutions partner of the 2008 Stanley Cup Playoffs.
